PRAYER OF CONFESSION (Adapted from Howard Thurman, “I Lay Before You”, 20th Century, USA)

One: O Lord, we have stood outside the feast, resisting grace.

We have shut others out when you have called us in.

All: The concern which we lay bare before you today is this:

Whatever disaffection there is between us and those who are very close to us—

we seek the root or cause of such disaffection, and with the illumination of Your mind, O God, to understand it.

We give ourselves to Your scrutiny, that whatever there may be in us

that is responsible for what has happened,

we will acknowledge.

Where we have wronged or given offense

deliberately or without intention,

we seek a face-to-face forgiveness.

What we can undo, we are willing to try;

what we cannot undo,

with that, we seek to make our peace.

How to do these things, what techniques to use, with what spirit—

for these, we need and seek Your wisdom and strength, O God.

Whatever disaffection there is between us and those who are very close to us,

we lay bare before You.

In the name of Jesus, Amen.
